ORDER OF BUSINESS NO. 6 -- Motions -- Refer to Attachment No. 6A and 6B

NOTE: Motions have been listed in four categories: privileged, incidental, subsidiary and main motions.

Although any motion is in order under this item of business (see Attachment 6B), there are only a few motions which have been used as an established practice. These are motions which arise out of the work of the body and are questions of a general procedural nature and temporary in their purpose; they do not determine final action. There are, however, motions which fall into this order of business as main motions and are of a substantive nature relating to the final disposition of a bill or resolution; such as a motion to indefinitely postpone, appoint, concur, or reconsider. These substantive motions have, as an established practice, been acceptable under this item of business.

Chapter 5 of the Joint Rules and selected sections of Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure (listed in Attachment No. 6A) will also provide information on motions.

The following is a list, in order of precedence, of motions which have as an established practice been used under Order of Business No. 6.

(All motions are listed and explained on the "Table of Motions," Attachment No. 6B. The numbers below correspond with the motions on that table for further reference.)

Incidental Motions

No. (8) Roll call vote (relating to a motion under immediate consideration).

"Mr. President, I ask for a roll call vote."

This is treated like a motion but is not actually voted upon. It only requires seconding by one member; undebatable; unamendable.

No. (9) Division of a question (relating to a motion under immediate consideration).

"Mr. President, I move that the motion of Senator _____ be divided."

To be divisible, a question must include points so distinct and separate that, one of them being taken away, the other will stand as a complete proposition; undebatable; unamendable; not subject to subsidiary motions. If motion for division prevails, the distinct propositions are voted on in the order in which they were originally stated, unless the motion for division states how the question is to be divided and considered.

Subsidiary Motions

No. (10) To lay on the table

"Mr. President, I move that the question (or motion, bill or resolution, etc.) be tabled."

This motion may be applied to any immediately pending main motion or privileged, incidental, or subsidiary motions not relating to procedure; undebatable; unamendable; not subject to other subsidiary motions. If a motion to reconsider is laid on the table, it requires a two-thirds vote to remove from table.

No. (12) Postpone to a day certain (relating to an immediately pending question)

"Mr. President, I move that the consideration (or further consideration) of (describing the question pending) be postponed until (stating the time)."

The motion should either specify the hour or order of business to which the question is to be postponed on a certain day. On the motion to postpone to a definite time, the question of postponement is open to debate, but the main question is not. May be applied only to pending main motions or a question of privilege being a main question. It is subject to amendment only as to the time.

(See also Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure, Section 178(E), 365, 367, 368(1) and (2), 369, and 370(C).)

No. (14) a. Refer (relating to a motion immediately pending)

"Mr. President, I move that the question (or motion, bill or resolution, etc.) be referred to the (committee or select committee or special committee) on (naming to committee)."

(See also Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure, Section 386(1).)

b. Refer (relating to a question not pending)

"Mr. President, I move that (bill, resolution No. ___, etc.) be taken from (second reading, printing, engrossing, enrolling, committee on _____, etc.) and referred to the committee on (naming the committee)."

To refer is debatable or amendable only as to the propriety of reference to committee. (See also Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure, Section 178(E), 386(1), and 388(1) and (2).)

No. (17) Amend (an amendable question or motion immediately pending)

a. To add (to place at end)

"Mr. President, I move to amend the motion by adding the words (giving specific language)."

b. To insert

"Mr. President, I move to amend the motion, following (indicate word or punctuation) by inserting the word(s) (giving specific language and punctuation)."

c. To strike out

"Mr. President, I move to amend the motion, following the (word or punctuation) (indicate exact word(s) and/or punctuation), by striking the (word(s) and/or punctuation) (indicate exact word(s) and/or punctuation."

d. To strike out and insert

"Mr. President, I move to amend the motion, following the (word or punctuation) (indicate exactly), by striking the (word(s) and/or punctuation) (indicate exactly) and inserting in lieu thereof the (word(s) and/or punctuation) (indicate exactly)."

The motion to amend may be applied to any motion which may be stated in more than one form. Every original main motion may be amended, and all other motions may be amended, except those indicated in table. To amend an undebatable motion is undebatable (see table for unamendable and undebatable motions). An amendment is not acceptable if the subject of that amendment is different than that under consideration. No more than one amendment and no more than one substitute motion may be made to a motion (Joint Rule 5-10).

(See also Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure, Sections 395, 396, and 400.)

No. (18) Indefinitely postpone (opens main question to debate)

"Mr. President, I move that consideration of the question (or motion, bill or resolution, etc.) be indefinitely postponed.

This motion proposes to make a final disposition of a question. According to Joint Rule 5-2, "When a bill or resolution is postponed indefinitely, it is finally rejected and may not be acted upon again...except upon a motion of reconsideration made pursuant to Rule 5-4". The motion to indefinitely postpone cannot be amended nor have any other subsidiary motion applied to it.

(See also Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure, Sections 432, and 434.)

Main Motions

No. (19) a. To pass, adopt, concur

b. To reject passage, adoption, concurrence

"Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill (or Resolution) No. ___ (do pass or be adopted) (or do not pass or be not adopted)."

"Mr. President, I move that House Bill (or Joint Resolution) No. ___ be concurred in (or be not concurred in)."

These motions would generally be made only after the motion to reconsider previous action on a bill prevailed. In most instances, this previous action would have been adverse. These motions are debatable.

c. Appoint

"Mr. President, I move that the President be authorized to appoint a joint conference committee of three to meet with a like committee from the House to confer on Senate (or House) amendments to House (or Senate) Bill (or Joint Resolution) No. ___."

"Mr. President, I move that the President be authorized to appoint a FREE joint conference committee of three to meet with a like committee from the House to confer on Senate (or House) Bill (or Joint Resolution) No. ___."

In the first example, the conference committee must confine itself to the amendments in question, whereas the second motion, if adopted, opens the entire bill to the conference committee. These motions are debatable. They are amendable only as to whether it might be a FREE or simple conference committee and the number of members to be appointed.

d. Dissolve and appoint

"Mr. President, I move that the (FREE or) Joint Conference Committee on...be dissolved and that the President be authorized to appoint a NEW (FREE or) Joint Conference Committee of three to meet with a like committee from the House to confer on...."

Incidental Main Motions

No. (20) Reconsider

"Mr. President, I move that the Senate reconsider its action of (date) taken on adoption of the (adverse) committee report on Senate (or House) Bill (or Joint Resolution) No. ___."

This motion is an exception to the general rule governing the motion to reconsider in that any member may make such motion and need not have voted on the prevailing side (S 4-1). The motion must, like all motions to reconsider, be made on the day the action was taken or on the next day the Senate is in session.

A motion to reconsider is debatable but unamendable. A measure may not be reconsidered unless it is in the possession of the body[1] and procedural motions are not subject to reconsideration. When a motion to reconsider is laid on the table, a two-thirds majority is required to take it from the table (Joint Rule 5-5). If the motion to reconsider fails, the question is finally and conclusively settled.

(See also Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure, Sections 454, and 456.)

The following are examples of the motion to reconsider:

> "Mr. President, having voted on the prevailing side, I move that the Senate reconsider its action taken on Senate (or House) Bill (or Joint Resolution, Conference Committee Report, etc.) No.___ on Third Reading this day (or date)."

If the motion to reconsider third reading action on a bill or resolution is carried, there may be no further action on that bill or resolution until the succeeding legislative day (S 5-1).

This is the only motion that can be made to reconsider action of the Committee of the Whole after the adoption of the Committee of the Whole report which killed a bill or resolution. If this motion prevails, a motion to segregate would then be in order (see Order of Business No. 8).

No. (21) To take from table

> "Mr. President, I move that (state motion, bill, resolution or question) be taken from the table."

This motion is undebatable and unamendable requiring a majority vote. (To take the motion to reconsider from the table requires a two-thirds majority.) The motion to take from the table may not be laid on the table nor have any other subsidiary motion applied to it. When

[1]If a measure has gone to the other house, a motion to recall constitutes notice to reconsider and is acted on as a motion to reconsider (Joint Rule 5-4).

> "Mr. President, I move the Senate recall Senate (or House) Bill (or Joint Resolution) No. ___ from the House."

taken from the table, the question with everything adhering to it is before the house exactly as when it was laid on the table.

(See also Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure, Section 492(D) and (E).)

No. (22) Pass consideration for the day (business pending on the calendar for second and third reading)

"Mr. President, I move that consideration of Senate (or House) Bill (or Joint Resolution) No._____ now on second (or third) reading be passed this legislative day."

This motion, which is undebatable and unamendable, precludes action from being taken on such measures until the next legislative day. Business which is passed for the day is then placed at the top of the list of considerations the next legislative day.

No. (23) To arrange the calendar (second or third reading)

"Mr. President, I move that Senate (or House) Bill (or Joint Resolution) No. ___ now on second (or third) reading be placed immediately before (or after) (name bill or resolution) No. ___."

This motion allows the body to rearrange the order of consideration. It is undebatable and unamendable. If placing is questioned, a substitute motion, worded the same as above but with a different placement, would be in order.

No. (24) Temporarily suspend rules (with reference to business not immediately pending)

"Mr. President, I move that Joint (or House or Senate) Rule No. ___ be temporarily suspended in order to allow consideration of (question, bill or resolution) this day."

This motion to temporarily suspend rules allows business to be considered which has not met time specifications, etc. It is undebatable, unamendable, and requires a two-thirds majority vote.

The above motions are those which are most often used under Order of Business No. 6. There are a few motions which are in order but have not been covered in the above material. These motions, as an established practice, are not often made. These motions are listed below with their corresponding number which refers to their order of precedence:

Privileged Motions

No. (1) To adjourn

Always in order except when a vote is in progress or on second reading; undebatable; amendable only with reference to specific time.

(See also Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure, Section 200.)

No. (2) Call of the house (in absence of quorum)

"Mr. President, I move a call of the Senate and ask for sufficient seconds."

Always in order except when a vote is in progress, in Committee of the Whole or when a qualified motion to adjourn has been made;undebatable; unamendable; requires a majority of those present. The only motion in order after a call has been ordered is to lift the call (which requires two-thirds majority) or adjourn. It has precedence over an unqualified motion to adjourn.

No. (3) To recess

"Mr. President, I move the Senate recess until the hour of _____ this day."

Always in order except when a vote is in progress, in Committee of the Whole, when a call of the house in the absence of a quorum has been ordered, or when a qualified motion to adjourn has been made; undebatable; unamendable except with reference to specific time.

No. (4) Question of privilege

Call of the house when a quorum is present.

"Mr. President, I move a call of the Senate and ask for sufficient seconds."

The request for a call in the presence of a quorum is undebatable and unamendable. It requires seconding by four members. (See Joint Rule 2-7)

Incidental Motions

No. (5) Appeal

"I appeal from the decision of the President (or Speaker).

When an appeal is taken, the presiding officer states the decision appealed from and his reasons for the decision. The question out of which an appeal arose is not debatable,but only the specific question involved in the point of order from which the appeal was taken. No member may speak more than once without consent of a majority.

(See also Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure, Section 231, and 232.)

No. (6) Parliamentary inquiry

"I rise to a point of information."

A parliamentary inquiry is not a motion but is simply a request for information. When the presiding officer is not in possession of the information requested, the question may be directed to a member.

(See also Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure, Sections 251, and 252.)

No. (7) Temporarily suspend rules (for immediate purpose)

"Mr. President, I move that Joint (or Senate) Rule ___ be temporarily suspended to allow consideration of (state question or motion)."

This motion would allow the consideration of a question immediately pending which would otherwise be out of order. It requires a two-thirds vote, is undebatable and unamendable.

No. (11) Previous question (immediate vote)

"Mr. President, I move the previous question."

The previous question applies to the immediately pending motion. This motion is voted on immediately and if the vote prevails all debate is closed in reference to the pending motion. The previous question is seldom ordered in the Senate, which has by established practice not tried to limit debate. No senator, however, shall speak more than twice on any one motion or question without unanimous consent of the Senate, unless he has introduced or proposed the motion or question under debate, in which case he may speak twice and also close debate. A senator who has spoken shall not speak again on the same motion or question to the exclusion of a senator who has not spoken (S 1-5).

(See also Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure, Section 345(3).)

When the previous question is ordered on any debatable question on which there has been no debate, the question may be debated for one-half hour, one half of such time to be given to the proponents and one half to the opponents (Joint Rule 5-6(2).)

A call of the house is not in order after the previous question is ordered, unless a quorum is not present. Previous question is not debatable or amendable.

No. (13) Close, limit or extend limit of debate

a. To fix the hour

"I move that debate be closed and the question be put on the pending question at (time)."

b. To limit the length of debate

"I move that debate on the pending question be limited to (amount of time)."

This motion may also contain a provision that the time be shared between the proponents and opponents.

c. To reduce or increase the number or length of speeches

"I move that debate on the pending bill, and its amendments, be limited to one speech of five minutes from each member."

d. Extend limit of debate

"I move that the time of the speaker (or for debate) on the pending question be extended (amount of time)."

Once again these motions are not generally made in the Senate. (See No. 11 above.)

(See also Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure, Section 357.)

PROCEDURE FOR CHAIRMAN IN COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE SENATE

The President will designate some member, on advance notice, to act as Chairman. This member will, upon the Senate resolving itself into a Committee of the Whole, come to the rostrum with his copies of printed bills to be considered under General File, take his place, bang the gavel, and proceed about as follows:

The Chairman says - "The members of the Committee of the Whole will please be in order. Members of the Committee, you have before you for your consideration Senate Bill No. ___ (or House Bill No. ___) (or House Amendments to Senate Bill No. ___). The Secretary will read the History and Title of the Bill."

After the Secretary reads the History and the Title, the Chairman then says - "Are there any amendments or corrections to the History and Title of the Bill as read? If not, the Secretary will read Section 1."

The Secretary will then say - "Section 1."

The Chairman says - "Any amendments?"

This procedure continues until all sections have been mentioned.

The Chairman then says - "Members of the Committee, you now have before you in its entirety Senate Bill No. ___. What is your pleasure?"

The Author of the Bill or the Chairman of the Committee reporting the Bill should then rise, address the Chairman, and upon being recognized make the following motion:

"Mr. Chairman, I move that when this Committee does rise and report, after having under consideration Senate Bill No. ___, that it recommend the same do pass (or pass as amended, or do not pass or be indefinitely postponed)."

In case of House Bills or House Amendments to Senate Bills, the recommendation will be that the House Bill be concurred in or House Amendments be concurred in.

Then the Chairman should say - "The question now rises on the Motion of Senator _____ that when this Committee does arise and report, after having had under consideration Senate Bill No. ___, it recommend the same do pass." (If House Bill it would be "be concurred in").

Then, after being addressed again by the one making the motion, recognize such member for the purpose of making explanations of the Bill or of starting debate on the Bill.

After the conclusion of debate, the Chairman should (unless the explanation has been brief) again state the motion and call for the vote.

The Chairman would then state - "As many as are in favor of the motion, signify by saying Aye. Those opposed will please stand." (If vote is unanimous the record will so show).

Then proceed the same way with other bills.

Upon completion of the deliberations, the Majority Floor Leader would move that the Committee rise and report, which motion when put and adopted dissolves the Committee of the Whole. However, the Chairman of the Committee of the Whole should proceed to the Rostrum to sign the report. Upon returning to his seat and the President having called the Senate to order, the Chairman should make the motion that the report of the Committee of the Whole be adopted as read.

ACCEPTABLE MOTIONS: Motions affecting bills on third reading are not in order until the particular bill is reached upon the calendar. A bill may not be amended on third reading. The only precedented motion allowed on third reading is the motion to rerefer.
